Spread the News About the Academy

Dear Friends of WALL:

The response to the WALL full page ad in the Telegraph on Labor Day has been gratifying. We currently have 144 members. Another way to increase our membership is to have members invite friends to attend one of our classes held in Taylor Amphitheatre, where there is adequate seating, but please do not bring friends to any class that has a limit imposed.

An important element in our success is the quality of courses offered each semester. The Curriculum Committee is always looking for new members who have suggestions for interesting courses. If you would like to volunteer for the committee, contact me at vince.coughlin0826@gmail.com.

The committee has finalized the course schedule for the spring semester, and registration will open in early November. The exact date will be announced in the November issue of The WALL. For those of you interested in the Great Decisions course, the Foreign Policy Association just released the list of Topics for 2019. Great Decisions will be held in March and April and the locations will be available when registration opens.

The topics for the upcoming year include: Migration; U.S. Mexico; Cyber Security; Trade with China; Nuclear Security; Overview of the Middle East; Rising Populism in Europe; and The State of the State Department.

A long-time goal of WALL was to give back to Wesleyan College for hosting the Academy for Lifelong Learning by creating a scholarship for a deserving Wesleyan undergraduate. The recipient will be selected by the college. Members attending the annual Holiday Drop-In which will be held on Monday, December 10, 2018, will be asked to vote on an amendment to the Academy By-Laws, establishing the scholarship. Wine, ice tea and light appetizers will be served.

Enjoy the October classes listed in the calendar. The room locations are listed elsewhere in this issue.
